

Hello Trevor,

Happy Thanksgiving! Despite the shortened week, the days that we were open were active with programming and preparation for the winter holidays. Our organizational Chess Club program showed that there was enough interest from the community to continue meeting, and we had a great team of youth Pokémon trainers playing and trading their cards at Pokémon Club.

We're easing into December with only a few events next week. Storytime for preschoolers and toddlers continues next month on Wednesdays at 10 am, and our writing group for adults will meet on Wednesday at 4:30 pm. Our Winter Workshop will be next Saturday from noon to 2 pm, directly before Amery's annual Holly Jolly Stroll.

The Friends of the Library Book Sale will be open on Thursday, December 5 from 3 to 5 pm and on Saturday, December 7 from 9:30 am to noon.

Have a great week!

Thanks for reading,
the Library Staff

Spotlight Article: VOX Books

VOX Books allow your child to read along with a narrator that plays through a speaker located on the inside front cover of the book. All it takes is a push on the play button and the story begins! Make sure to check out these cool new books, which are in their own display next to the Makerspace, the next time you stop in.

Weekly Poll

Last week, we asked about whether you watch the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade and/or the NFL Detroit Lions game. Almost half of those who responded said that they would watch neither event. The other responses were pretty evenly split between watching both, just the parade, or just the game.

Special Programs

You are invited to join Terry Kelzer to learn to make the classic French holiday dessert—la bûche de Noël, a Yule Log Cake. This is not just a cake but a history lesson that begins in medieval times.

The demonstration will include preparation of the cake, the fillings and the meringue mushrooms. It can be a new family tradition and is a not to be missed class for chocolate lovers.
