

Hello Trevor,

Those people looking forward to the end of winter got another dose of it this week, and those people who enjoy winter got more snow to enjoy. However, spring is coming in 14 days! Of course, just because it will then be spring, does not mean we will not get more snow. After all, this is Wisconsin!

Big news: Our STEM Lab/LEGO room is officially open after being closed for several months for maintenance! This room features a LEGO table, a Rigamajig, and other science/technology/engineering/math learning tools. We're so excited that it's available again! See the photo below for an example of a Rigamajig creation by a local teen.

This week we had the first meeting of our new Dungeons & Dragons group for kids! The party is currently full, but you can email enovak@amerylibrary.org for more information or to join the waitlist. We also had our bi-weekly Chess Club this Monday and our monthly Books & Brews Book Club on Thursday at 6 p.m.

Next week we have our Mystery Book Club on Tuesday, Storytime on Wednesday, and Teen Thursday!

In March, we are having a special version of our monthly Family Game Night - Old Fashioned Family Game Night. Join us that night to play an old favorite or to learn a new "old" game! This event is sponsored by the Amery Area Historical Society and the library.

Finally, the week of March 24 is spring break at the library! Families are welcome to drop by to watch some movies, learn a new craft, and play with friends. Check our calendar for all the details.

Have a great week!

Thanks for reading,
